Definitions

14.40 Student

The term “student” means an individual for whom the University maintains student records and who: (a) is enrolled in or registered with an academic program of the University; (b) has completed the immediately preceding term, is not presently enrolled, and is eligible for re-enrollment; or (c) is on an approved educational leave or other approved leave status, or is on a suspension status.

14.50 University

The term “University” means the University of California and includes all campuses, the Office of the President, the Division of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and each Department of Energy Laboratory operated by the University.

101.00 Student Conduct

Students are members of both society and the University community, with attendant rights and responsibilities. Students are expected to comply with all laws and University policies and regulations.

The standards of conduct apply to students as the term “student” is defined in Section 14.40 of these Policies. They also apply to:

a. applicants who become students, for offenses committed as part of the application process;

b. applicants who become students, for offenses committed on campus and/or while participating in University-related events or activities that take place following a student’s submission of an application through his or her office enrollment; and
c. former students for offenses committed while a student.

If specified in implementing campus regulations, these standards of conduct may apply to conduct that occurs off campus and that would violate student conduct and discipline policies or regulations if the conduct occurred on campus.

3.00 JURISDICTION

3.10 Types of Cases.

Cases involving alleged misconduct under the following categories of rules governing student conduct shall be referred to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs or Student Conduct Committee:

- University of California system-wide policies (See Appendix A)
- Campus-wide rules
- Rules established by campus entities (such as departments, residence units, and professional schools) that are applicable to their particular students.

3.20 On-Campus Jurisdiction.

These provisions govern student conduct on, or as it relates to University property, or at official University functions and University-sponsored programs conducted away from the campus. University property is defined for purposes of these Standards of Conduct as all land, buildings, facilities or other grounds or structures, or any item in possession of or owned, used, maintained or controlled by the University or designated by the campus as subject to these policies. University property also includes computers and network systems owned, maintained or controlled by the University or funded by University budgets or designated by the campus as subject to these policies.

3.30 Off Campus Jurisdiction.

Student conduct that occurs off University property is subject to UCR Standards of Conduct where it 1) adversely affects the health, safety, or security of any member of the University community, or the mission of the University, or 2) involves academic work or any records, or documents of the University. In determining whether or not to exercise jurisdiction over such conduct, the University shall consider the seriousness of the alleged offense, the risk of harm involved, whether the victim(s) are members of the campus community and/or whether the off-campus conduct was a part of a series of actions, which occurred both on and off University property. Recommendations to extend jurisdiction will be reviewed by the Assistant Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs.

The University may also exercise jurisdiction over student conduct that occurs off campus where the conduct compromises University neighbor relations.

Violation of the conditions contained within the terms of a disciplinary action imposed under these Policies or campus regulations.

102.23 Violation of the conditions contained within the terms of a suspension imposed under these Policies or campus regulations.

102.24 Violation of the conditions contained within the terms of a disciplinary action imposed under these Policies or campus regulations.

KEEPS MIND:
It's a privilege to be on the EAP Program, not a right. It's a privilege to be at UC, not a right.

WHY IS IT SO IMPORTANT FOR YOU TO FOLLOW THE LAWS AND POLICIES?

- You represent not only the University of California, but also the United States.
- What you do may impact so many others because of the impressions that you leave behind.
- People may use their relationships and experiences with you to evaluate and judge other Americans, so please make it positive.
- If in doubt about taking any action or whether it would be appropriate think:
  - Would you want to be on the national newspapers and news either in your host country or at home — in your hometown newspaper, or on the LA Times, CNN?
    - If not, then you probably should ask someone before doing it.
    - If so, check and ask someone before doing it to make sure you are not violating any laws and policies of your host institution, country, and culture.
